About the building

1 Cromwell Place places your business in South Kensington, at the heart of the museum and academic district that gives this part of London its distinct character. The Victoria and Albert Museum, Natural History Museum and Science Museum define the area, alongside Imperial College London’s South Kensington Campus and the wider concentration of research and cultural institutions. For day-to-day access, you’ll have South Kensington Underground station close by, with Gloucester Road Underground station adding further connections on the District, Circle and Piccadilly lines. The neighbourhood also brings a strong mix of culture and city amenities, from performances at the Royal Albert Hall and events at the Royal Geographical Society to open space in Kensington Gardens and Hyde Park. Harrods on Brompton Road adds a well-known retail destination, while Chelsea and Westminster Hospital supports the wider local infrastructure.
